Dedication

It is largely through the efforts of Miss Anne Dorrance as a member of the Board of Directors that we, the students of the Kingston School District, are able to enjoy the many advantages which our beautiful schools present. As a means of expressing our deepest gratitude for her unfailing interest and at the same time our regret for her retirement, we, the class of nineteen thirty-six, deem it an honor to dedicate this, our yearbook, to her.

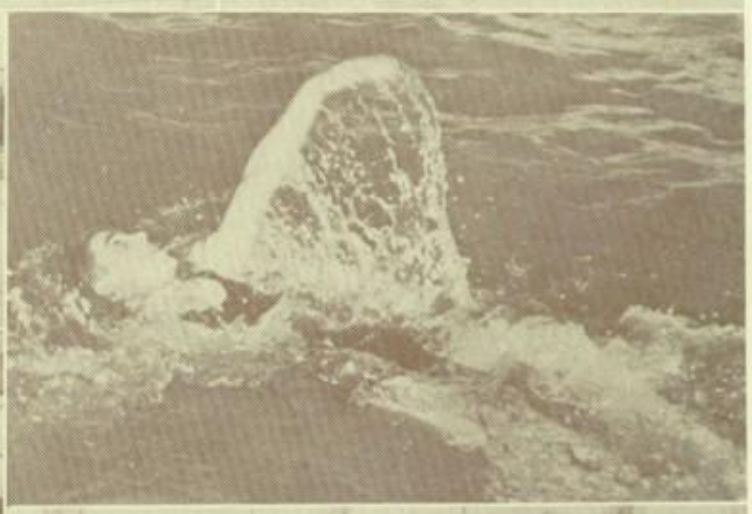
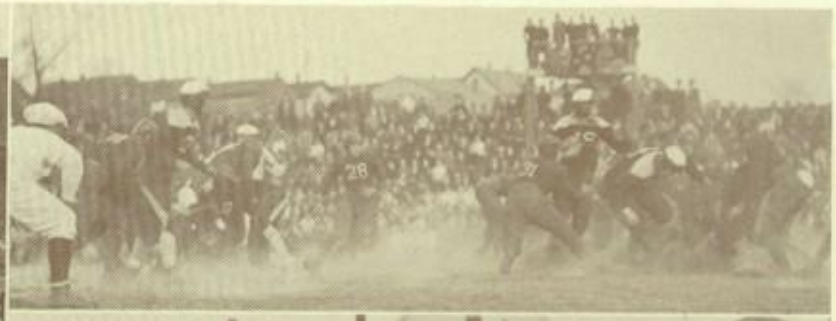
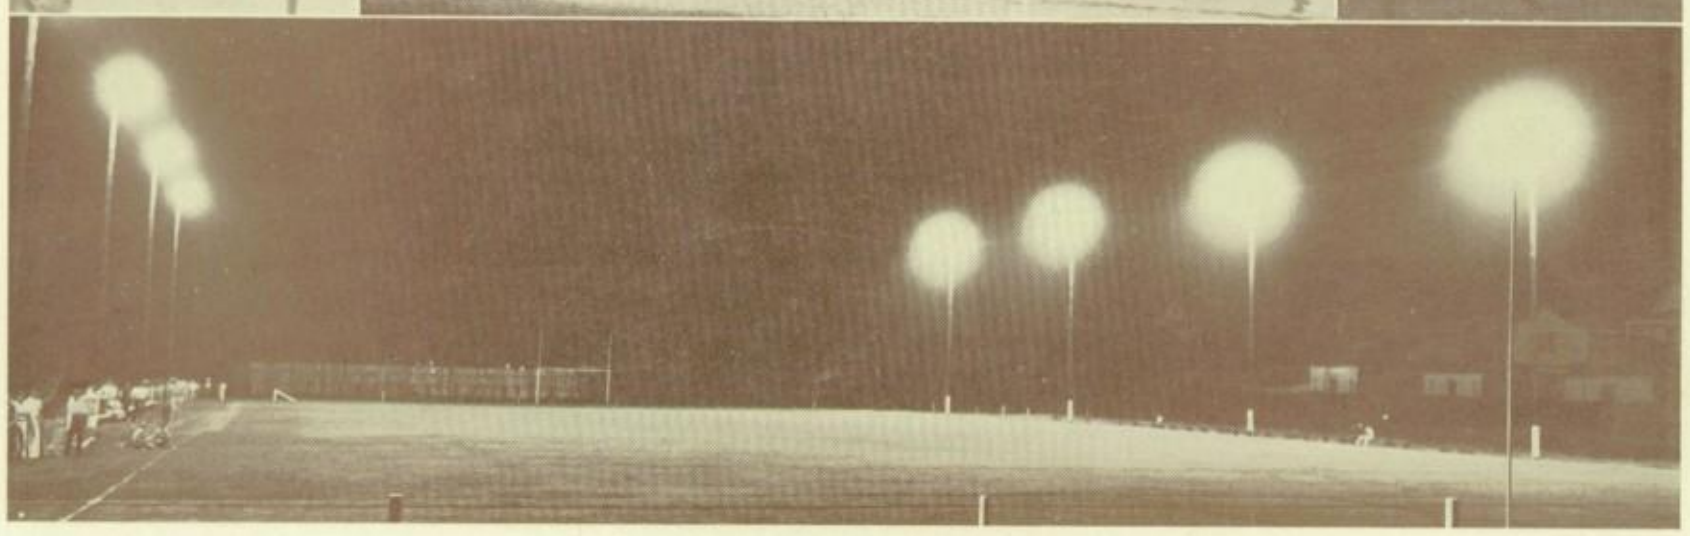
In this group of snapshots is a picture of the dancing groups of the Yearbook Minstrel. We also discover a small representation of the feminine side of our student body. When you look at these pictures on some hot summer's day, we hope that you will be cooled by the memory of our zero winter recalled by the pictures taken in the front and rear of the building.



SPRING house cleaning, with plenty of water to help. Remember the flood back in the spring of '36? D'ye ken the twa lassies being "rescued" by a pair of infantry lads? This picture appears through the courtesy of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia, Pa. Don't let your eyes deceive you; the boys and girls are not swimming in the flooded Susquehanna.

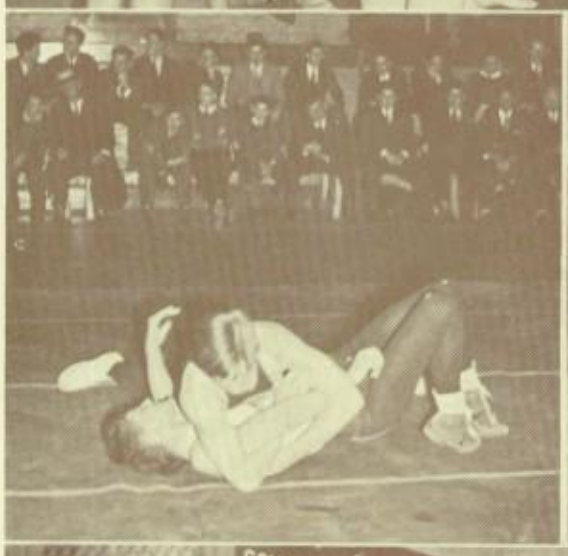


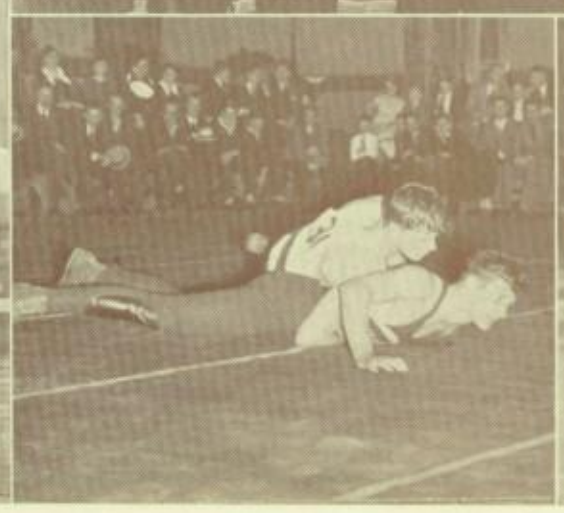


A H—here we see, believe it or not, the only night picture taken of what used to be our football field. This page is also devoted to sports, but of a heavier type. Recognize the Plains game? (The ones with the sand storm). If you search assiduously, you will detect our cross-country men headin' for home. In case some of you have never seen it, Franklin Field stadium is also shown on this page.

HERE you see what goes on "backstage" during a histrionic production. These pictures were taken from the Junior Play, Senior Play, and the Yearbook Minstrel. We also see candid snapshots of students and teachers including a promising young amateur photographer, who helped a great deal with the photography of this Yearbook.

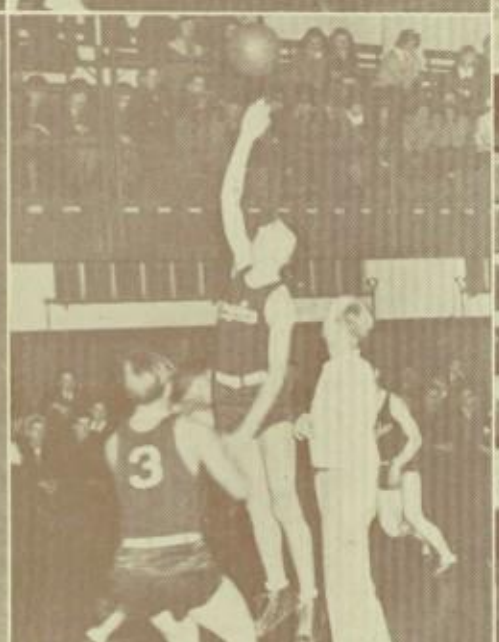
THIS is indeed a varied page of snapshots, including ping-pong lessons at the Honor Society Party, another picture from the Yearbook Minstrel, one of the Minstrel group itself, girls' basketball audience, practice for the Minstrel, a shot of our improvised study halls, chemistry experimentation, and a scene from a classroom.



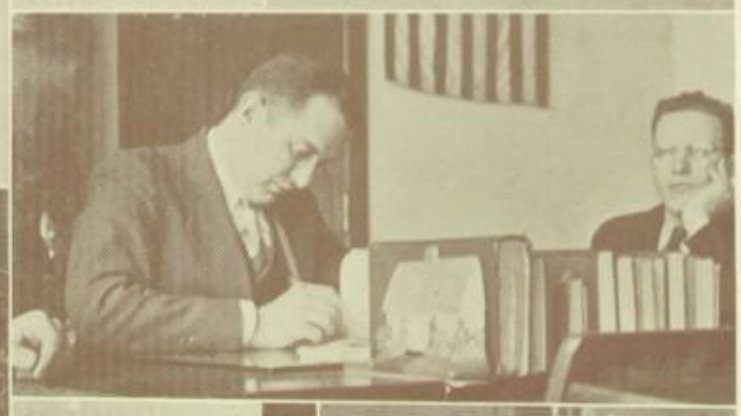


On this page of snapshots are depicted various sorts of sports participated in by students in their hours out of school. We see pictures of our Mermen and Mermaids of the Honor Society at their swimming party, our grapplers doing their best to win for old Alma Mater, a few enthusiastic tennis players of the high school team, a beautiful "Brooklyn Side" bowling shot, and our star relay team that represented us at the Penn relays.

WHAT'S THIS? A fashion show? No, just some of the Home Economic girls displaying their products. We also see Frank Buck, Jr., after some heavy pheasant hunting. And there are some tree climbers and photograph men. By the sight of the Razzle-Dazzlers and Kibitzers, we might think that it was cold when the picture was taken and it was, to be sure. We mustn't leave out the faculty and the classroom workers, either.



JUMP, boys and girls! K. H. S. is behind you. And while we're speaking about exercising, we might as well include the minstrel dancers and a picture from the Senior Valentine Dance. Ambition displays itself in the snapshots of a few of our students working in one of their off moments. And there's the master mechanic. He's probably waiting for a streetcar because he won't get far in that car. If you look closely enough, you will see four of our young senior casanovas just six years ago.



MAY I have this dance? There's another shot of the Senior Dance. We also perceive some students discussing their school problems with the teacher. The stranger comes to town from New York and gets his picture in the book. These teachers must have a drag. It seems as though it's lunch time, so to keep from getting hungry by watching them, let's move on to the next section of the Yearbook.

Paper And Ink Don't Make A Book

THIS, dear reader, is The Kingstonian Staff. It has wished oh, so many times—that an annual could be designed by each and every subscriber, but this was quite impossible. The result of their efforts you now hold in your hand and they hope you are pleased with it. If so, they are satisfied.

As usual, the Yearbook staff has strived to attain all possible points to give us an All-American Yearbook.

Several meetings were held at which various men spoke to the staff in regard to subjects relating to the Yearbook. The first of a series of speakers was Mr. Stearn of Stearn's Studio. Mr. Atkins of the Craftsmen Engravers discussed engraving. Mr. Sterne of the Sterne-Everett Studio presented a new idea for the theme of the book—Photomontage Photography. It was decided that Sterne-Everett was the studio at which we would have the pictures made.

Since the members of the Senior Class were not all interested in the same particular phase of work in connection with the book, the group was divided into six distinct staffs, namely, editorial, business, art, circulation, typing, photography. A chairman was appointed as the head of each.

Several boys were informed about photography, and they obtained many interesting snap shots which are pictured in the book.

The staff has put forth its best efforts to produce an All-American Yearbook. The book will compete with other high school annuals and they hope it will prove to be as nearly perfect a yearbook as any high school could be expected to produce.

Thy Name Is Honor

IMMEDIATELY after the first report cards came out, a rumor spread about that the Honor Society would be "swamped" by the number of seniors eligible for entrance. Many seniors were disappointed when they discovered that only fifteen out of such a brilliant class as ours would be pledged. After the midyears one night a group of senior members met and helped our faithful adviser average the marks of the juniors. We found that only a few could be pledged since the society was already large. Therefore, only those above 90.5% were pledged.

On March 7, the initiation party was held, in honor of the newest members, in the clubrooms of Y. M. C. A. Some highlights of the evening were: Bill Paxson's first dance! Eating so late that there was no time left to initiate the new members for which we were very sorry, because here had been many baneful mixtures prepared just for that event! And last, but not least, Miss Jones' teaching the athletes, who weren't swimming, how to play ping-pong! It was also amusing to see Mr. Everett, the photographer, squirming in all sorts of queer positions in his efforts to secure good action-shots for the Yearbook!

It has been and is the annual custom of the Honor Society to have an all-day party at the end of the year. The party is always held at Skytop Country Club. While at Skytop, society members have complete privileges on tennis courts, in the swimming pool, and on the whole of this scenic ground.

Words And Rebuttal

ON the night of the big debate, when a debater delivers an interesting speech in just the right tone of voice with the most suitable gestures and intonations, you may be sure that his perfection is not due to mere chance.

There is no such thing as a "born debater"—no matter how good one is, he must go through extensive preparation before he faces an audience. If you don't believe this, consider what our high school debaters must do.

Long before the rest of the school knows that there is to be a debate, a meeting of the club is called in which the members are informed of the question, given bibliographies of references and told to "fall to." Then each individual must determine which side of the question he wishes to uphold, look up all material on the subject, and write his speech. On an appointed day the sponsor listens to some thirty speeches delivered by eager applicants in voices ranging from the trembling falsetto of the timid freshman to the sonorous baritone of the cocksure upper-classman and selects an affirmative and negative team.

Then the real work begins! The preliminary speech is discarded and a new one begun. After a few more weeks of exhaustive research, this is completed, and our young debater begins the serious business of memorizing it, usually succeeding in driving his whole family crazy in his attempt.

All of this happens before the debate when, of course, he must be on his toes every minute listening to his opponents so that he may break down their speeches in his rebuttal.

The first official debate of the season was with Hazleton on the subject, "Resolved: That the United States Should Adopt a System of Socialized Medicine." Prior to this an informal practice-debate on the same subject was staged with the Forty Fort teams.

Rod And Transit

THE Civil Engineers' Club has been considered one of the most active clubs in our high school. Due to the interest and progressiveness of the society, it participated in many events and enjoyed many entertainments.

Some of the trips and entertainments were: Two interesting trips through the Hazard Wire Rope Company, a visit to the Hunlock Power Plant followed by a trip into the Woodward Colliery where all the sights of a mine were witnessed, the visit to the Vulcan Iron Works, where much valuable information was gathered and the viewing of the Burlington "Zephyr."

Another form of educational value which was witnessed by the members of the club was in the form of motion pictures. Pictures of many different phases in mechanics and engineering were shown. There were pictures of the history and development of the metal, nickel, the mine and their work, steel, which included phases of iron ore, the steel mills and foundries, and the use of finished steel, and finally the automobile industry, showing all the different steps and mechanical devices that are assembled to make the complete product.

But no club can ever attain success without a good leader, and this brings Mr. Thomas, our excellent head and adviser, to the front. For a long time he has worked faithfully thinking only of the good of the organization and at last he has brought to the front, a club which proclaims his remarkable efforts.

Bugs That Serve Their Purpose

MOTTO: "To learn those things in nature that are best worth knowing, to the end of doing those that make life most worth the living."

The Triple N Biology Club, organized six years ago and sponsored by Mr. Dobb, is completing another successful and enjoyable year. Membership in the club is open to all students taking biology and showing an interest and sense of responsibility in their work.

In line with its motto the club has set up among its aims the following:

1. An acquaintance with the facts and phenomena of nature.

2. The development of scientific attitudes.

3. A knowledge of the history, background, and progress of science.

4. The development of desirable social attitudes through group participation.

5. The development of initiative, leadership, and cooperation.

6. The instilling of a love of the beautiful and a sense of security and companionship with all life out of doors.

Several delightful and enjoyable programs were given during the year. Two social functions were planned for the year. One of these, a sleigh-riding party was held at the Country Club and was enjoyed by club members and their friends. The other, to be held at the close of school, has not been fully decided upon.

The club is anxiously awaiting the coming of suitable weather so that it can take some hikes and trips into the woods where both plant and animal life can be studied in its own environment, "devoid of the inventions of man."

To Promote Brotherhood

OCTOBER of 1935 found the Alpha Hi-Y of Kingston High School starting work on a new membership plan originated by the Wyoming Valley Hi-Y Council. It involves a progressive membership system which, to the minds of the members, is a splendid way to become more closely associated with the real Hi-Y objective.

In this new plan, the boy aspiring to membership is given a chance to earn himself a place in the club by working out a project instead of being voted in by the other members. Prospective members are given certain research tasks to perform and any boy who really wishes to, can, with little effort and some initiative, attain the right to wear the Hi-Y pin. Thus will the organization be more certain of securing interested young men to carry on the much neglected work.

In November, elections were held for club officers, following a very close race, the results were announced as follows: Harold Pittman was elected president, to be assisted by William R. Morgan, as vice-president. William Morgan was chosen treasurer, and Carl Kashenbach, secretary.

As this book goes to press, we are anticipating with great eagerness the high spot of the year in regards to social affairs—the annual Hi-Y dinner dance held jointly by the Alpha and Beta Chapters. This event will probably be held once more at the Irem Temple Country Club.

In closing, may we, the departing members, wish Mr. Schulz great success with the new membership plan. We feel that with a bit of cooperation from the present and prospective members, he will succeed in making the Hi-Y a very fine organization for high school boys.

Little Men, What Now?

THE Beta Hi-Y had a very successful year during this school term. A large membership may have been the cause of this. The Beta Chapter also used the progressive membership plan originated by Hi-Y Council.

Election of officers was held early in November, and meetings at the club room in the Wilkes-Barre Central Y. M. C. A. started immediately.

These meetings were well planned by Mr. Piccone and Harry Croop, president. Besides the usual business meetings, there were also several fine entertainment sessions sponsored. Among these were: a mixed swim at the "Y" and a sleigh-riding party at the Irem Temple Country Club. An educational tour was also conducted through the newspaper plant of the Times-Leader in Wilkes-Barre.

A group of prominent speakers were invited to attend the meetings and address the boys. Among these were: Mrs. Charles Long, who spoke on "Mental Deficiency and Crime"; Mr. Kane, who spoke on "Leisure Time Projects," and Dr. W. F. Davidson, who had "Community Health Measures" for his topic of discussion.

Members of the Beta are impatiently looking forward to the annual Spring formal dinner-dance held at the Country Club in Dallas. This affair has been held in former year with the Alpha Hi-Y as co-sponsor and unless something unforeseen occurs, the high point of the year in social events at Kingston High School will be realized.

Painted Lips---Painted Eyes

THE membership of the club was greatly augmented this year. When the tryouts were held in October over 300 students were on hand to be judged for their histrionic ability. Of these, 80 were chosen for membership in the Amateur Actors' Association. An initiation was held in the form of a weiner roast at the Irem Temple Country Club. A good time was had by all, especially those two rugged individuals who ventured into the swimming pool on that frosty October night. Several plays and skits were presented from time to time by the more active members at the meetings. Due to the unfortunate inundation this Spring, many social events were postponed and consequently the club was unable to present its annual three one-act plays. However, an outing was held in the Pocono mountains in June which was attended by about 75 members. The scene was Naomi Pines, where swimming, dancing, and other sports were enjoyed by all.

We all wish Mrs. Thomas much success with the new group next year, and we hope that the plays will be presented as usual for the enjoyment of all.

In Seclusion We Study

IN COMPLETING the fifth year of its organization the Library Club can look back on a commendable and successful career. It has contributed much to the good of the school by the industrious work of its members in the library. Each member of the club gives up one study period a week to assist the librarian in her work. They spend many laborious hours checking library slips, mending torn books, and doing other routine jobs around the library.

A series of interesting talks was given at the club meetings this year. They included an address on current books by Mr. Howell Reese, editor of the Dallas Post, and a short instruction on book binding by Mr. Miller from the Gaylord Publishing Company.

The club was unfortunate in losing its sponsor, Miss Ruth Dean, at the end of the first semester, when she left to fill a position at the junior high school in Philadelphia. Her departure was regretted by the school as a whole as well as the members of the club. She was admired and respected by all who knew her and was a constant inspiration and friend to those who worked with her. It was probably her presence in the library that made the study hall students all but cause a riot to get library slips. Many study periods have been spent under her supervision. We miss Miss Dean very much and hope that the students in the school where she is now situated appreciate her to the fullest extent.

Parlez-Vous Francais?

Le Cercle Francais has added several new features to its monthly meetings this year. Among these are a Circle orchestra and girls' chorus, the reading of letters from French correspondents, and educational lectures concerning French traditions, industries and scenic interest.

Another interesting project is the dressing of dolls to represent characters in French stories studied in the French classes.

More than ever before, the members of this organization are developing an interest not only in the French language, but in the people themselves. This is made possible by the correspondence between themselves and French students of English.

The program committee and the music committee had no difficulty in selecting choice entertainment for the meetings, graciously volunteered by many talented members.

This article would not be complete without complimenting Miss Gertrude Garrison, adviser and sponsor of this organization, on her excellent counsel and patient efforts in making this year's Cercle Francais successful.

Nous Parlons Un Peu de Francais

Le Petit Cercle Francais was organized in 1932 at the suggestion of Miss Garrison, the sponsor of Le Cercle Francais. It is composed of students of the first year French classes who wish to supplement their classroom study of the French language with outside activities. At the meetings, during the year, French songs have been sung, French games played and enjoyed, and the programs have been in French. Victrola records made by French professors while visiting in America were played and studied.

The club has proved more interesting than ever under the able supervision of Mr. Mangan and Miss Lee. Due to their varied ideas, the club has carried on many activities and meetings which have been attention-compelling to all the members. They have obtained a real liking for the French language and customs which can not be accomplished by any other means.

It is hoped that the first-year students, who have been members of the club, will be better able to take advantage of their membership in Le Grand Cercle Francais next year and the year following.

In June, Le Petit Cercle Francais joined with Le Grand Cercle in doing honor to the senior members of the two clubs. This has been an annual affair and proved to be as successful this year as it has always been in the past.

MOTTO—Non victoria sine labore.

THE Latin Club has completed another year of success financially, scholastically, and socially, under the able guidance of our sponsors, Miss Sweet and Miss Thompson. No small part of this success has been contributed by those students taking Cæsar, who for the first time have been allowed membership in this club.

Through the sale of candy we have been able to meet our expenses for the year and to donate as usual one of the five-dollar prizes for high scholarship awarded to each class at the end of the year.

Through Betty Williams' able handling of the business of selecting and ordering Latin Club pins, we enjoy wearing these symbols of our interest in the Romans.

The students in the Latin classes still welcome the day when the Latin magazine, Auxilium Latinum, arrives. The "funnies" and the latest news are then read in classical Latin while good old Cæsar, Cicero, and Virgil await their turn for attention.

This year sixty-two students have taken the nation-wide test instituted a year ago by the editor of this magazine. Last year great honor was brought to us by Ralph Weller who won a gold medal for the highest mark in his divison among 1297 students in thirty-seven States.

The aim of the club is to gain a clearer understanding of Rome and to become more acquainted with the lives and customs of the Romans.

Sie Sprechen Auch Deutsch?

THE purpose and aim of the German Club are to try to further an interest in anything and everything pertaining to Germany—its religion, customs, climate, or anything else which might influence a German boy's or girl's life.

Mr. Schulz, who is the club sponsor, through a college professor, had the names of those interested sent to a German "gymnasium," or high-preparatory school, for correspondence. Some of the students received some very interesting letters, although a few of them were written in German script, and it was a question as to whether the student should take his letter to Mr. Schulz or William Paxson, for translation, as these two were the only two who could really read German script.

We hope that even more students will be interested next year in this club, although this year was the biggest in respect to membership in the history of the club.

For the first time since the organization of the club, it was decided that the club should collect dues. Prior to this year, the club had existed on the pocket method, only the pockets were too often empty.

At the club meetings, Germany and its people were discussed in various lights relating to customs, government, and the Olympic games.

At one meeting Mr. Schulz showed the members a picture of his class when he was in Germany in second grade. This and the facts which he told the members proved very humorous and interesting.

The Wide Open Spaces

THE Pi Delta started its fifth year as one of the most active clubs in the high school. The club is made up of senior and junior boys who are interested in Winter sports, such as skiing, tobogganing and skating. The club also holds many outings in the Spring of the year which include hiking, hunting, and swimming.

At the beginning of the school year twenty new members were elected into the club. Ten of these fellows were seniors and the other ten were juniors. The boys then started to earn money by selling hot dogs at the football games. This method was very profitable.

The first social event of the year was a sport dance, which was held in the school early in October, and it was a social success. Later in the Fall of the year the members went to the Y. M. C. A. camp in the Pocono mountains for a day. Some of the members went fishing and hunting while the others went hiking in the woods.

After the Chirstmas vacation the fellows went to the Irem Temple Country Club many times to take part in the Winter sports. After the fun, a steak roast was always welcomed by the boys and these outings were enjoyed by all.

The club received the name of Bachelor Club from the student body of the high school. Mostly because all the activity was limited to the male members of the student body, with exception of the dance.

The club is under the able sponsorship of Mr. V. Piccone, who spent a great deal of time with the boys. The club has hopes for a very successful future. Those leaving will never forget the good time they had while members.

Artists In The Embryo

THE Kappa Sigma Chi (better known as the Kingston Sketch Club) is under the able direction of our art instructress, Miss Edwards. It is composed of those students who have displayed good character, sportsmanship, and ability in art work.

The club was fortunate this year in securing an exhibition of prize posters from Penn State College. They also had on exhibition some Japanese block prints which could be purchased in the art room.

Later in the year the club visited Catherine Westfield's Marionette Shop. Miss Westfield is one of the club's shining examples, having once been a member of it herself. The members also helped to put over the Alvera Street Marionette show, with which we were all pleased.

For the last and most-awaited affair they made plans to motor to Scranton where they would spend an afternoon touring the Exerhart Art Gallery, gazing at an exhibition of famous paintings. After this they planned to dine at a well-known restaurant and attend a theater before returning home.

The club spent the term sketching, painting, and block printing, preparing for their annual exhibition when their hopes were shattered by the flood which carried with it all the art supplies, including the students' proof of their travail. But they decided to take it on the chin, and go back to nature by painting out of doors with easel and brushes.

Romance of Spain

To say that the Pan-American Club has "completed another successful year" is, in our estimation, a gross understatement, for we believe that the club's many successful activities deserve more recognition than that.

Of course, the high spot of the club year was the annual Pan-American Day program, which was delayed a little because of the flood, but proved well worth the wait. As usual, the stage was decorated with the flags of many South American countries, whose gay oranges, reds, yellows and blues provided a very cheerful aspect.

Another "high spot" of the year was Governor Earle's acceptance of honorary membership in our club. He is the third governor-member of the Pan-American League, Governor Hoffman of New Jersey and Governor Lehman of New York having joined previously. Mayor La Guardia is also an honorary member.

During the year, the programs at each meeting were planned to foster a real spirit of Pan-Americanism by making us better acquainted with the peoples and conditions in the countries south of us. These programs have varied greatly, ranging from speeches by students to plays presented entirely in Spanish, providing a great deal of amusement for both cast and audience.

This year, for the first time, it was decided that small monthly dues be extracted (a rather good word, if we do say so ourselves) from each member in order that we might send delegates to the semi-annual conferences of the Pan-American Student League of New York City, of which we are a member. The conferences are held in New York and, thus far, ours has been the most distant club to have representatives present—a record of which we are indeed proud.

All American Girls

THE Girl Reserves, is an organization under the supervision of Miss Polly Piper, has held many interesting meetings to which the girls have responded wholeheartedly. Among speakers present at various meetings were:

Mrs. Churchill, who gave an excellent talk on "Getting Your Money's Worth," and Mr. Cook, whose subject was the "Theater."

A weiner roast, which was held on October 22, 1935, lead the social functions for the year. The Christmas dance was held on December 23. The year's mid-Winter conference was held in Reading on February 14 and 15. Several other affairs such as the dances on April 24 and May 20 took place, all of which were successful.

The symbol of the Girl Reserve Way of Life is the lighted candle. By the Girl Reserve Way of Life is meant the spirit of youth which dares to begin even when it knows not where the path may lead; that spirit of youth which deliberately faces life squarely and earnestly desires to find and give the best. May the Girl Reserves live up to this Way of Life always!

Footsteps To Drumbeats

THE Kingston High School Band has been proclaimed as one of the outstanding bands in Pennsylvania, and has been recognized as the finest band in Wyoming Valley.

The organization started, in the year of 1936, with the purchase of forty odd uniforms, so the musicians made a great showing during marches, decked out in their smart maroon and gray suits.

Another achievement, which they claim as unusual is the playing of popular pieces at football games, and other events. This novelty attracted much attention and drew a large amount of praise. When the gloomy atmosphere hung over the students, the director, W. R. Reese, would say "Strike Up the Band" with "In a Little Gypsy Tea Room," or "There's Something About a Soldier," or any other popular tune of the day.

The current event of each year which causes much interest and excitement is the annual band concert. This year it featured "Popeye the Sailor Man." The boys showed wonderful results of a year's work in the marches, popular tunes, and novelties, which they played. Other soloists and famous musicians were also featured on the program. This entertainment drew a large crowd from many nearby towns, where news has spread of concerts of past year.

And last but not least, comes William R. Reese, the outstanding leader, whose skillful directing and leadership have placed the band at its high peak. Mr. Reese has spent many hours working, previous to the concert, so that he may turn out the best material which may show other people the outstanding musicians in Kingston. His efforts are deeply appreciated and through these efforts, the*" band marches on."*

The Melody Lingers On

THERE are two orchestras in our high school. The regular, or varsity orchestra, and the reserve orchestra which is always in readiness for general purposes.

All our plays and special affairs in the auditorium and assembly periods draw on this orchestra for incidental music, such as playing between acts in our shows.

On many occasions during the term, this orchestra plays special numbers in our assemblies in the morning at 8:30. The organization has a period of one hour, once a week for practice, and in this way acquires a very practical repertoire for service at all school functions. There are many persons in this orchestra who are taking up the study of music in a serious way through private study with some of the best local teachers, and a very decided improvement is noticed in the work of those persons when playing in the orchestra, for their interest in music is noticeably intense.

Many of them are capable of fine solo work on their respective instruments, and are always glad to take part at any time.

The reserve orchestra is made up of under-class folks who have not been in high school very long. They practice an hour a week and do very good work, and are allowed to play in our assembly occasionally. Their progress is watched and they are promoted to the regular orchestra when Mr. Davis feels they are equal to it. There is a high musical spirit in this orchestra, for they later become members of the regular orchestra.

Footlights and Glory

On Wednesday, January 8th, the Senior Class presented a dramatic "hit" entitled "Leave It to Psmith," (the "p" being silent as in psychology).

"This hilariously funny English comedy by P. G. Wodehouse and Ian Hay was splendidly enacted"—such was the opinion of all who witnessed it. Long after the final curtain, the applause echoed through the corridors of our fair school, even penetrating to the dressing rooms of the "all-star cast".

The part of Psmith was played by that inimitable master of slap-stick comedy, Carl Kashenbach, while his "make-believe" lady love, Eve Halliday, was taken over by talented Jean Vercoe.

Bill Cushner portrayed the stern, but henpecked Lord Middlewick. His wife, Lady Middlewick, the one guilty for his timidity, was enacted by that girl who we all know has the theatre in her soul —Marguerite Marianelli.

Incidental love affairs in the sub-plot were enjoyed by George Welsh as Freddie Bosham youngest son of Lord Middlewick, and Josephine DeMun as Phyllis Jackson; also Justin Mitchell, alias Eddie Cootes, a Chicago crook after the Dulworthy diamonds and Margaret Mullen, a supposedly sentimental poetess by the name of Aileen Peavey.

Ralph Weller added his slice of comedy as Baxtr, private secretary to Lord Middlewick. Unconsciously he pulled one of the funniest laugh-getters of the play by affecting an impromptu exit through an unintentionally locked door of one of the stage settings.

Other characters of the play were: Cousin Ethelberta played by June Keller; Bellows, the butler played by Jerome Cowen; Liftman at a tube station, played by Jack Evans; Ralston McTodd, a poet, played by Charles Jacobson; Cynthia, his wife, played by Henrietta Posten; Gladys Rumbelow, a Club waitress, played by Lois Rogers; Christopher Walderwick, a young dude, played by Howard Wiener; Agatha Crafton played by Ruth Bower, and Lord Chipstead, played by Woodworth Allen.

Much credit is due Mrs. Marjorie B. Thomas, dramatic coach, who directed rehearsals. We wish also to thank Mr. Anthony and Miss Edwards who supervised scenery construction.

A splendid stage crew headed by Stewart Davis consisted of Donald Stalford, William Snedden, Carlton Ash, Bob Vernon and Howard Wiener.

Apologies to the Barrymores

THIS juvenile comedy, "Seventeen," written by Booth Tarkington, was presented on May 1, by the Junior Class. Robert Leary carried the lead as Willie Baxter, the growing youth of seventeen who just learned a novel manner of becoming a gentleman. He wanted to step out of the long-legged, careless, boylike role of his first sixteen reckless years and become Mr. William Sylvanus Baxter, who would woo his lady friend in an enticing manner.

His mother, portrayed by Jane Hooper, was weary with worry over her son, his action, and his everlasting desires. Like all our mothers, she let him have his own way.

LaVerne Jenkins took the part of his little sister, Jane, who, with her sweet applesauce, bread and sugar was constantly his main reason for appealing to his mother's maternal instinct.

To complete the Baxter household let us speak of Mr. Baxter whose position as father of this modern family was assumed by Warren French. He just couldn't understand his son's displeasing attitude; poor Willy would have gotten a thorough spanking if it hadn't been for his mother's pleading.

Genesis, the handy man, who told Willy some very interesting facts about marriage and life as a whole, was played by Jack Rippard with that well known Stepin Fetchit accent. Mah goo'ness, sur'ly wuz an impo'tant part dat he done played—and how well he did it. With him was his dog Clematis but he called him Clem for short.

To arouse some excitement, May Parcher came to town and with her, Lola Pratt, the young silly-haired girl (to Mr. Baxter) who won her boy friends by that adorable baby-talk. The former was played by Betty Williams and the latter, by Geneva Hess. Lola stole nearly every boy in town but Johnny Watson, played by Eugene Rogers, for he was May's boy friend. If you wanted to win Lola's heart, you had to be nice to her precious little dog. Willie was the first to "fall" but he had stiff competition from Joe Bullit, alias Robert Wagner and George Cooper, alias Daniel Hourigan, Johnny's cousin who owned two cars. Lola liked George quite a bit.

Mary Brooks, played by Mary Louise Evans, and Wallie Banks played by Joseph Betz, added some color to the younger set.

Mr. Parcher, May's father, couldn't tolerate Lola with her foolishness around his home any longer, so he planned a farewell party for her. Much to his pleasure and contentment she finally left. Jack Bustin capably carried out his part as the father.

Miss Booke, characterized by Arlene Glass, was the awkward but willing guest who tried her best to teach Willie how to dance.

All's well that ends well, so Willie goes to college.

Much credit, thanks and gratitude is due Mrs. Thomas, who spent much time and energy in making this play a great success.

Sisters of The Skillet

THE Home Economics Club has enjoyed the most prosperous year in 1936, the ninth of its existence.

The club had, this year as has been the custom in the past, charge of the advertising, collection and distribution of the student and faculty Thanksgiving donations to the needy of Kingston.

The meetings of the club have been very interesting this year, many enjoyable parties and teas having been given. A most attractive tea was held in December, which gave the girls an opportunity to demonstrate their culinary arts. In February the girls entertained their mothers at a Valentine's Day Mother-and-daughter tea.

A very successful bake sale was held on February 29 in the lobby of the Luzerne County Gas & Electric Company. Many other projects were completed to raise money for the purpose of furnishing the Home Economics apartment and to carry out the plans of the Interior Decorating Department. For several years the club has been trying to accomplish this but the girls have more nearly reached their goal this year than at any time before.

Under the direction of Miss Bush and Miss Kitchner, the club sponsors, many tasty dishes were turned out in the Home Economics kiktchens. We have also seen in the club's fashion shows that the clothes the girls make are often more modern and much more inexpensive than those purchased in the commercial shops.

Wings Over Kingston

KINGSTON High School leads again! This time in the interest of aviation. In the latter part of November, 1935, a group of ambitious young men under the direction of Eugene Rogers began thinking about an aviation club. By December 5 it had become a reality.

Mr. Gittins consented heartily to being the sponsor of the club.

Through the cooperation of Miss Laura Jones and the club members a charter was drawn up and sent to Washington, where it was officially passed, and now this club joined the rank of Kingston High School clubs.

January 9, the club began to get into full swing, with the idea of having an aviation contest. A cash prize was offered for the club member building the best all-around plane. The contest was won by Fred Schmitt, after the judges had battled for hours upon hours. Fred, besides winning the cash prize, was also given the honor of presenting his plane to Mr. Krieger. Needless to say, it now occupies a prominent place in our principal's office.

A huge contest, with all the schools in the valley participating, was planned, but due to the flood, this great event was then called off. A little later, through the suggestion of Mr. Gittins and through the untiring efforts of the president and secretary, Mr. Fred Soule, one of the valley's foremost aviators, kindly consented to talk to the club. His talk proved so interesting and helpful that at the suggestion of one of the club members, he was unanimously chosen chief adviser to the club for 1936-1937. With the aid of the members and those interested, may we all fly on towards a higher goal.

There's A Song In Their Hearts

OUR Treble Clef Club (girls) and the Harmonians (boys) have been very much in evidence in our school activities this term. The girls gave a good account of themselves at Miss Dorrance's banquet held at Hotel Sterling in her honor on her retirement from the school board of Kingston.

They have appeared a number of times in the morning assembly and have always received generous applaus for their singing. There is great interest among the girls in the best music to be had and this is very gratifying to all concerned.

The boys' club has done some very fine singing before the student body at different times during the school term.

They have indulged in many rearrangements of classic numbers and have also contributed largely to humorous selections as well.

The boys always sing well and are always in demand for special selections.

We must say that the above musical activities have been a great hit in the life of the high school students and the members of the faculty, and the entire student body are looking forward to hearing some more from these two musical organizations.

Dedicated To Science

THE Naturalists' Biology Club was organized this year under the sponsorship of Miss Freda Jones, Miss Lois Lee and Mr. Neilson Andrews. All students pursuing the course of biology are eligible to membership. Meetings are held the last Thursday of each month.

Its aims are the development of interest in nature study that the student may have a better acquaintance with the facts and phenomena of nature and to instill a love of the beautiful and a sense of security and companionship with all life out of doors.

There was a very enjoyable sleigh-riding party held at the Country Club on December 31, 1935. A good time was had by all.

All are anxiously awaiting the coming of suitable weather so that they may take hikes and trips into the fields and woods and obtain first-hand experience in the application of theory to both plant and animal life in its own environment.

In the classroom, they obtain much knowledge and experience by working with various forms of plants and animals. It is hoped that the club will increase in size and be able to go into the depths of nature to bring back objects for classroom experimentation.

Editorial

THE STUDENT BODY probably hears about our yearbook only twice during the year. That is when we make a drive for subscriptions and when the student body makes a dive for the books in June. But the work and time spent on a yearbook is considerably greater. From the early part of November to the day that the book is distributed, a group of seven staffs is continuously at work. These staffs are namely, Editorial, Business, Photographic, Advertising, Typing, Art, and Circulation. The time which these staffs put into the book is unbelievable. This year, there was more work than ever before, since a completely new type book was produced. Larger write-ups, more pictures, and more pages, all contributed toward keeping the staffs busy at all times.

In speaking of the time spent in making a book, let us glance at the process through which a book goes before it comes to the student. The heads of the staffs are appointed by the yearbook sponsors, Mr. Hankey and Mr. Schulz. After this the Editor-in-Chief picks his Associate Editor and Sports Editor. The staffs are then arranged according to the student's preference of staffs. Immediately upon the picking of the Editorial Staff, write-ups are assigned. They are corrected, typed, corrected again, sent to the printer where they are linotyped, corrected several more times, compiled and arranged in proper order. All this takes much time and work and the staff should be complimented for the fine job which they have done.

At the same time the photographic staff is at work taking pictures, which are assorted, sent to the engraver and hence to the printer. The Business Staff is also at work trying to raise the amount needed to finance a yearbook. I personally wish to thank all members of all the staffs for their fine cooperation in putting out a book which will surely be well-liked by all the students.

The staff wishes to sincerely thank Mr. Sterne and Mr. Everett of the Sterne-Everett Studios, Messrs. Johnson and Atkins of the Craftsmen Engravers and Mr. Jones of the Bevan-Jones Printing Co. Their untiring efforts have been put forth to make a book superior to all others ever put out by the high school.

This editorial would not be complete without an explanation of the theme of our book. The theme selected this year was "School Life." Through our pictures and write-ups we have tried to show you the school at all times of the day and school year. We sincerely hope you will be pleased with this book since we have tried to publish one which would be educational, interesting, novel and outstanding in the field of yearbooks.

First Row: H. Wiener, photographic editor; A. Weir, Circulation manager.

In Memoriam

THE Almighty has taken from our Board of Education one who was well-known and well-loved by all. It is as an expression of our great sorrow, that we dedicate this page.

They're On Their Way

WHEN our class entered school, we were a group of enthusiastic, eager, and ambitious students with never a doubt but that life would run smoothly for us. We entered 392 strong.

We were assigned to our home rooms and immediately became citizens of precincts which helped to form a larger governmental organization known as Memorial High School, Kingston, Pa. Whether, as freshman, our classmates were good or bad citizens, we shall not state, because each one can answer that question for himself.

We engaged in a few extra-curricular activities, but not many. Most of our time aside from class periods, was used in becoming oriented, for it was no uncommon sight to see a freshman standing alone in the middle of a corridor, trying to solve this intricate problem: "Do I belong in the gymnasium, or in room 219, or in the Home Economics kitchen, or where?"

Well, those trying days gradually passed away, and we were just beginning to feel somewhat at home, when our final examinations were on. After a few agonizing days, those of our number who merited them received our passports in the form of promotion papers to enter the sophomore class.

At the beginning of our sophomore year it was observed that sixteen of our original number were missing. A few had moved away, some had to give up to go to work, and a few met lions along the way, which had devoured their ambitions for a higher education. The number that returned was 376.

We returned in September, 1934 as upperclassmen—juniors—383 in number. A deeper sense of responsibility had seized us and we assumed the air of having big things to accomplish, so we began our campaign at once.

We selected the following officers to guide us through our junior year: Harold Pittman, president; Margaret Mullen, vice-president; Alice Delaney, secretary; Justin Mitchell, treasurer.

We launched out on our senior year with a membership of 264. We had lost 19 members, for the usual reasons. One of our first activities was to organize our class with the following officers: George Hooper, president; Margaret Mullen, vice-president; Anne McNeil, secretary; James Haggerty, treasurer.

The Senior Class play was an outstanding social event of the year but one more delightful event took place, namely, the Junior-Senior Prom.

This book would not be fitting without a word regarding the officers of our Class of '36. To them we owe a vote of thanks for the way in which they have guided us through the hardest year in school, the senior year. It is the hope of the whole class that they will be as popular at college and in life as they are now, ever acting as pilots and guiding others over the Path of Life.

MARY ADAMS—Her musical talent displayed itself in the various musical organizations of the school such as the Treble Clef Club. She was a member of the French Circle and the Triple A in her junior and senior years. She belonged to the Biology Club and Girl Reserves in her senior year and was an active member of the Latin Club in her junior and senior years.

WOODWORTH ALLEN—When only a freshman, Woody's honest visage inspired his classmates to entrust their funds to him as class treasurer. In his first year he joined the business staff of The Kingstonian and worked up to the position of general manager in his junior and senior years. In his third year, he was received into the Pi Delta and the next year was elected vice-president. Woody was admitted to the Triple A as a junior and was in the cast of the senior play. When the new bowling team formed he was elected president. A member of the Pan-American Club 3, 4, he held the office of club reporter in the latter year. The track team and the swimming team, 4, were two of his sport interests.

JANET ANDREAS—Proved to be a very popular girl and an outstanding athlete in her high school life. She played home room basketball in her freshman year, reserve basketball as a sophomore, and stood out as a remarkable varsity cager in her junior and senior years. She was secretary of her home room in her sophomore year and treasurer of the same group as a junior. Janet participated in the Biology Club, II, French Circle, II, III, Aniketos in her last three years, Girl Reserves in her junior and senior years and the Yearbook staff in her senior year. She proved an invaluable help as hall aide in her final year of high school.

MADALYN ANDREKO—Was an active member of her home room basketball team in her freshman and sophomore years. She participated in the Spanish Glee Club, Pan-American Club, and Biology Club as a sophomore. In her two final years of high school, she belonged to the Girl Reserves.

CARLTON ASH—Became a member of The Kingstonian newspaper business staff as a frosh. He was also active in the Pi Delta Club, III, IV, Radio Club, II, and the bowling team in his senior year.

ELEANOR BALUT—Picked French as her chief interest. She was an active member of the French Circle in her sophomore year.

HELEN BANKOVICH—Took quite an interest in her home room basketball team in her freshman and sophomore years. She participated in the Library Club as a freshman and the Girl Reserves in her last two years.

CHARLES BARNOSKI—Proved himself an athletic member of the Letterman's Club and a track star in his freshman year. He was an active member of the German Club as a junior and senior, Biology Club in his sophomore year, and the Latin Club.

DORIS BAUER—Participated in the Biology Club and served as a hall aide in her senior year.

FRANCES BEAN—Was quite popular in her home room playing on its basketball team in her freshman and sophomore years and acting as its president while a sophomore. She was active in the Girl Reserves in her last two years and worked on the Yearbook staff in her senior year.

ANNE BELLAS—Started her high school life playing on the home room basketball team for one year. She was an active member of the Home Economics Club, acting as vice president in her sophomore year. She participated in the Girl Reserves and Yearbook staff while a senior.

KENNETH BENNER—Was a member of the Kingstonian newspaper staff I, II, III, and IV, being production manager in his junior year. He was a member of the Pi Delta and German Clubs III and IV and belonged to the Biology and Civil Engineering Clubs as a sophomore. He was on the Yearbook staff in his senior year.

MARION BENTLEY—Was athletically inclined in high school, playing home room basketball I and II, reserve basketball as a junior and varsity basketball while a senior. She was very popular in the home room, acting in the capacity of secretary, III, and president, I and IV. She was an active member of the French Circle, II and III, Biology Club as a sophomore and the Girl Reserves while a junior and senior. In her senior year she was a member of The Kingstonian staff, Pan-American Club, Library Club and president of the Aniketos.

ELIZABETH BERRY—Played home room basketball in her first two years of high school. She was an active member of the Biology Club as a sophomore, Le Petit Cercle Francais II, III and IV and the Latin Club while a junior.

FRANK BIZUP—When he entered high school in his first year, he immediately set out to establish himself in athletics. He played intramural basketball in his freshman and sophomore years. In these two years he also participated in track events. In his second, third, and fourth years he played football and was a Letterman in his last two years.

ARTHUR BLOOMBURG—Held offices in quite a few of the high school organizations. He acted in the capacity of home room vice-president, I, president of the Pan-American Club and Pi Delta as a senior; secretary of the Civil Engineering Club and vice-president of the Biology Club in his senior year. He participapted in the Triple A, III and IV, Kingstonian newspaper staff in his junior year and the Aviation Club and the bowling team in his senior year.

CHARLOTTE BODIE—Like many other girls played home room basketball in her sophomore year. She was a member of the German Club, III and IV, Girl Reserves as a junior and the Honor Society and Biology Club and Kingstonian newspaper staff in her senior year.

JANET BODMER—Played on the home room basketball team in her freshman year. She also participated in the Biology Club, II, Library Club, III, and the German Club and Girl Reserves in her junior and senior years.

MARIAN BONHAM—Was a home room cager in her freshman year and the home room secretary in that same year. She was active in the French Circle, II and III, Girl Reserves, III and IV, and the Biology Club in her sophomore year. She participated in the Triple A and Treble Clef Club in her senior year.

MARGARET L. BOWEN—Was very popular among her home room classmates, being vice-president in her freshman and sophomore years. She belonged to the French Circle, II and III, the Girl Reserves, III and IV, and the Library Club in her senior year.

RUTH BOWER—Musical talent won a place for her in the orchestra for four years. She was an active member of the Biology Club in her sophomore year and participated in the French Circle, Triple A, and Girl Reserves in her junior and senior years. She showed her ability as an actress in the junior and senior plays and belonged to the Treble Clef Club in her senior year.

ARTHUR BRADER—Became an active member of the N. B. C. Biology Club and Library Club in his senior year in high school.

DALLAS BRADY—In his senior year held the important post of secretary of the Pi Delta, having been received into the club the previous year. When word of the new Bowling Club went round, he was one of the first members. Dallas joined the Biology Club in his second year and was a member of the Triple A, 3, 4.

CLAIRE BRENNAN—Although she didn't enter until her third year, she plunged right into a few activities such as Girl Reserves, III, and IV, and the French Circle, III, and IV, besides making a host of new friends. She also was on the editorial staff of The Kingstonian newspaper during her last year.

FLORA BRIGGS—Despite her good, old English-sounding name, has a wee bit of Spanish in her soul which made her join the Pan-American Club, 3, 4. As a junior she was a member of the Pan-American Glee Club which entertained the students several times with Spanish songs in chapel. In her fourth year she joined both the Latin and Library Clubs. Home room basketball occupied her time as a freshman.

CHARLOTTE T. BYJ—Proved her artistic ability by her membership in the Sketch Club, 2, 3, 4, and by the fact that she was on the art staffs of both The Kingstonian Yearbook and newspaper during her last year. In addition to this she worked on the typing and editorial staffs of the newspaper in her senior year. The Biology Club, 4, and Girl Reserves, 3, 4, were two other interests which helped to keep her constantly busy.

EMILINE BYLE—'Way back in her freshman year went out for home room basketball and, of course, made the team. In her second year, she was elected secretary of her home room and was a member of the French Circle. She was initiated into Girl Reserves as a junior and took part in all their activities during her last two years. In her senior year she was also a member of the Triple N Biology Club.

MARY CLARE CAHALAN—Was a Library Club member for three years, 1, 3, 4. She made her first appearance on the stage as a sophomore in "Louder, Harry, Louder," and was a member of the Triple A, 3, 4. She joined Le Petite Cercle Francais in her junior year and the next year the Grand French Circle. Mary wrote for The Kingstonian Yearbook and newspaper staff in her senior year, and was in the Girl Reserves during her last two years.

GEORGE F. CARLE—Did not indulge extensively in extra-curricular activities during his high school career, confining his interests to the Civil Engineering Club in his sophomore year.

MARION CARLE—As a member of the Pan-American Club, 2, 3, often sang in assembly with the Spanish Glee Club. When a sophomore she played on her home room team and, in her senior year, became a Girl Reserve.

MARY R. CARLE—When a freshman, Mary's athletic ability secured her admission into the Aniketos Club for her entire four years. In her junior year, she held the position of Kingstonian reporter for the club. She played on her home room basketball team, 1, 2. She joined the Biology and Pan-American Clubs in her second year, and also was a member of Girl Reserves in her last two years.

MYRON A. CARLE'S outside-school interests have been chiefly in the athletic line with the exception of the Biology Club, 2. He played class basketball as a freshman and sophomore and went out for track in the latter year. During his last year he was an outstanding member of the Bowling Club.

JOHN CARRIGG—What better proof of John's popularity can be found than the fact that he has been president of his home room for the last two years, and a Hi-Y member for four years. John was a member of the track team, 2, 3, 4, and basketball manager, 1, 2, 3. He played class basketball in his first two years and was a member of The Kingstonian newspaper staff in his freshman and senior years.

LORETTA CAWLEY—Was a member of the Aniketos for four years, and treasurer during the second and third of these years. She played basketball, I and II, and joined the Biology Club in the latter year. Loretta was a member of the Pan-American Club, II and III, and a Girl Reserve in her junior and senior years.

JEAN CHARNECKI—Right from the start has been keenly interested in sports, especially basketball as this record shows: Home room basketball, II; reserve basketball team, II; varsity basketball team, II, IV, and the Aniketos Club for 4 years. At the beginning of her sophomore year she was elected treasurer of her home room and was a member of both the Pan-American Club and the French Circle. Jean joined the Home Economics Club in her junior year and the next year became vice-president. Girl Reserves, III, IV, and the Library Club in her freshman year were two other organizations to which she belonged.

FRANK CHEBALO—A member of the inter-class basketball teams, was a member of the Radio Club in his sophomore year and the German Club in his freshman and sophomore years.

ELEANOR L. CLAUSER—"Music is my hobby" warbles Eleanor and the rest of the class agrees that it is an extremely suitable one in view of her musical talent. For four years she has been a pianist in the orchestra and during her last two years a member of the Treble Clef Club. In her junior and senior years she belonged to the Pan-American Club and participated in two of the Spanish plays which the club presents each year at Christmas time. She was also a member of the Latin Club during the last two years. As a sophomore she supplemented her musical interests with membership in the Biology Club and the home room basketball team.

MARGUERITE J. COOK—There aren't many girls who could enter a high school for the first time in their junior year and immediately be elected home room secretary, but Marguerite did it! She also succeeded in becoming well acquainted and well liked during her two years here as well as taking part in the activities of the French Circle, the Latin Club, Triple A, and Girl Reserves.

MARY COOPER—Has been an interested French student ever since she was a sophomore, when she joined Le Petite Cercle Francais. Then for the next two years she was a member of Le Grand Cercle Francais. During III, IV, she participated in the activities of the Home Economics Club, and played in the musical comedy which was presented in her junior year. The Library Club, I, and the Biology Club, II, were two other organizations to which she belonged. Membership in the Treble Clef Club, the Triple A, and Girl Reserves kept her more than busy during her junior and senior years.

NORMAN COSTINE—Was a member of the Triple A in his junior and senior years, and was among the cast of the junior play. During his sophomore year he participated in the Engineering Club and Latin Club. He was also a member of the Pan-American Club in his last three years of high school.

JEROME COWEN—Has been on the business staff of The Kingstonian newspaper during his four years, holding the position of advertising manager in the last two years. He has held the office of home room vice-president while a junior, and home room treasurer as a senior. He participated in the Library Club during his four years. During his sophomore year he participated in track events and was a member of Le Petit Cercle Francais. While in his senior year, he played a role in the senior play, and showed great interest in the Triple A. In his senior year, Jerome was president of the Engineering Club of which he was a member during the last three years. The Honor Society and Debating Club drew his interest in his fourth year. He also participated in wrestling as a sophomore and junior, and in Le Grande Cercle Francais in his junior and senior years.

MARGARET COX—By playing on her home room basketball team as a freshman and managing the team as a sophomore won the much-coveted honor of membership in the Aniketos Club, II, III, IV. As a member of the Library Club she worked in the library during her first year and the next year she joined the Biology Club. Margaret was a member of Girl Reserves in III and IV, and was on the Yearbook staff during her last year.

EUGENE CROSSIN—Spent all his extra-curricular time in athletics, playing on our basketball team for four years.

WILLIAM CUSHNER—This outstanding actor proved to be quite active in his four years of high school work. He was class president in his freshman year and home room president in the following year. He belonged to the Hi-Y, I, II, III, IV; Triple A, III, IV; German Club, III, IV; Biology Club, II; Letterman's Club, IV, and swimming team, IV. He was manager of the football squad in his first three years in high school. As an actor he spoke for himself in the junior and senior plays.

BENJAMIN CZARNECKI—Fred Astaire, look to your laurels—here comes Czarnecki! Ben is the only member of the football team who can tap dance and does he get razzed by the rest of the fellows! He has been on the varsity team for his last three years, and was a member of the Letterman's Club since a freshman, when he was also on the track team. He joined the German and Biology Clubs, II, and was a member of the Latin Club in his senior year.

JANE DARROW—Enthroned at a desk in the front hall, acted as hall aide to all bewildered strangers and visitors (as well as wandering freshman), during her senior year. She was a loyal member of the French Circle, II, III, IV, and of the Library Club in her first two years. As a sophomore, Jane joined both the Home Economics and Biology Clubs. Like many girls, Jane was a Girl Reserve in her last two years.

BOB DAVENPORT—And here's another young man whose list of activities is going to give us writers' cramps!

For four years "Trop" has been a member of the Hi-Y and a flute player in the band. For the first two of these years he also played his flute in the high school orchestra. In his freshman year he was on the track team and played basketball, while during his last two years he was busy making and breaking records for the swimming team. As a sophomore he joined the Biology Club and the next year the Pan-American Club. In his junior year, he was received into the Triple A and in his senior year was on the Yearbook staff, taking part in the minstrel sponsored by it.

CHARLES W. DAVIES, JR.—Proved very active in his high school work, being especially prominent in the newspaper business. He was a member of The Kingstonian newspaper staff for four years, being the circulation manager in his third and fourth years. He belonged to the Biology Club in his sophomore year. In scholastic clubs he stood out as a member of the Civil Engineering Club, II, III, IV, being secretary in III, and vice-president in IV; Pi Delta, IV; Triple A, III, IV; junior play, Pan-American Club, III, IV, and debating team in his senior year. In athletics he proved active as a member of the wrestling team, II, III; Bowling Club, IV; assistant manager of track, I, II, III, and manager, IV, and Letterman's Club, IV. He did much work for the Yearbook as a member of the business staff in his senior year.

PATIENCE DOROTHY DAVIES—Showed her ability as a cager, being a member of the home room basketball team in I, II, and captain in II. As for scholastic organizations, she became a member of the Pan-American Club in II, continuing on in her junior year, was a member of the Biology Club, II, and an active member of the Girl Reserves in her junior and senior years.

STEWART DAVIS—A popular senior, showed this popularity early in his freshman year, being the home room president. He was an active member of the Biology Club in his second and acted as treasurer. He belonged to the Le Petite Cercle Francais in his sophomore year, took part in basketball in his first year, belonged to the Hi-Y in his second, third, and fourth years, and the Triple A in his junior and senior years. He showed his ability as a stage hand by being a stage manager of both the junior and senior plays. We owe him a vote of thanks for his untiring efforts as sports editor of the Yearbook staff.

ALICE DELANEY—In her freshman year was an active member of the Library Club. In her sophomore year she belonged to the Biology Club, Pan-American Club, Kingstonian newspaper staff, and was home room secretary. She brought out her dramatic ability in her next year as a member of the Triple A, junior play and Triple A plays. She was an active member of the Girl Reserves in III and was junior class secretary. She completed her senior year in the Girl Reserves and on the Yearbook staff.

JOSEPHINE DE MUN—She started out immediately in her freshman year as a member of the home room basketball team. She continued in the sport in her next year also participating in the activities of the Biology Club. She proved herself quite capable and active in her junior and senior years, being a member of the Girl Reserves, Triple A, junior play and French Circle. She completed her senior year as home room treasurer, a member of the Home Economics Club, and one of the cast of the senior play.

Mr. Lewis W. Krieger,
Principal of Kingston High School

THE faculty of Kingston High School deserves much praise for the work which they have done. Their time, patience, and energy have been spent in trying to educate the students. In some instances it was in vain, but the fault lay not with the teachers but with the students. We all should appreciate their efforts.

This year our faculty was increased by three members, namely: Mr. John Gittins, Miss Pritchard, and Miss Curtiss. They are well-liked by the student body and it is hoped that they will remain with us for some time to come.

Not only have they spent time in classroom work, but they have spent it outside of school hours correcting papers, helping students, and doing various tasks, about which we know nothing. But the greater part of their time outside of school is spent in club work and extra-curricular activities. They help plan programs, run social events, and teach the students helpful things not learned in school. Some of the closest contact between teacher and student comes about through club work.

All in all, their task is great and they deserve many thanks from the students and especially from the seniors, who have worked with them more than the rest.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

L. W. Krieger
J. Henry Pool
P. A. Golden
Murray Scureman
Dr. L. L. Rogers
James P. Harris

THE purpose of the Athletic Council is to direct the program of the various teams representing this school. Most representative of people in the school's athletics is this Athletic Council in that the majority of its membership is from the school board chosen by the townspeople.

It is composed of seven men, namely, Mr. Murray S. Scureman, chairman; Mr. P. A. Golden, faculty manager; Mr. J. S. McCracken, athletic director; Dr. L. L. Rogers, Mr. L. W. Krieger, Mr. J. H. Poole, Mr. James Harris:

ALL four of these staff members are unusually qualified as we may easily ascertain by examining the enviable records their teams have established. The football team has held the Wyoming Valley championship for the last two successive years; the boys' basketball team has found itself among the formidable opponents at all times; the wrestling team lost but one meet last season, and the track team has held the P. I. A. A. championship for the last four years. All these factors are evidence that Kingston's coaching staff is of a superior nature, second to none.

COACHING STAFF

Mr. Anthony Hock, wrestling coach; Mr. Joseph McCracken, football, track and swimming coach; Miss Kathryn Ingham, girls' basketball coach; Mr. Neilson Andrews, basketball and reserve football coach.

Idols of K. H. S.

THE final whistle climaxed a season more successful than any other enjoyed in the last decade. Highly touted, as the opposition was, it was completely overwhelmed by the powerful aggregation of players on the 1935 roster. Their efforts all were contributing factors in acquiring the Wyoming Valley Conference Championship for the second consecutive year.

Such formidable opponents as Nanticoke, G. A. R., Coughlin, Plymouth and Edwardsville were completely bowled over by the finest balanced team seen in Northeastern Pennsylvania in late years.

Near perfection was reached by this 1935 team in trimming a considerably larger Nanticoke by the score of 13 to 0.

The innovation of night football by this school marked its initial appearance in Wyoming Valley. Novel as it may have been, it provided a great attraction to the throngs of people who packed the stands each week. It proved its worth by making this the most successful season financially, that has ever been enjoyed. Much criticism and comment was made with the installation of these lights but from those who witnessed any of the six night performances we have heard nothing but praise.

The mid-month floods in March wreaked untold devastation upon the football field, but you may rest assured that you can look forward to just as fine a field next fall as we have been fortunate enough to have in the past.

In its captain, Joe Soroka, the championship eleven had the finest leader the school has known. His stellar performances throughout the year were not without much favorable comment and recognition. He achieved the signal distinction of being named captain of the West team in annual East-West Shrine Benefit game. Additional honor was bestowed upon Kingston in that it placed more men in this game than any other school. These men were:

Francis Loughney.....Left Guard
Benjamin Czarnecki.....Right Guard
James Haggerty.....Center
Henry Williams.....Fullback

The All-Scholastic team chosen at the close of the season each fall by the sports-editor of the local newspapers found four Kingston men in the line-up. They are:

Capt. Joseph Soroka.....Halfback
Henry Williams.....Fullback
Francis Loughney.....Left Guard
James Haggerty.....Center

Next fall we shall undoubtedly find the names of some of the graduating lettermen in the line-ups of Eastern Preparatory Schools and Colleges. Kingston has provided fine material for higher institutions and it will do so again this year. May they continue to render such brilliant performances in coming school years as they have done during their high school career. The graduation of fifteen lettermen will provide a difficult task to replace this team which made such an enviable record. These lettermen and their positions are:

James Haggerty.....Center
Benjamin Czarnecki.....Guard
John Nash.....Guard
Frank Loughney.....Guard
George Hooper.....Tackle

Cage Constellations

There are many sports in our High School for students to participate in and each sport has its own following. But when it comes to the one which onlookers enjoy most, basketball is second only to football.

The probable reason for the popularity of this sport now under consideration is its action. There remains a doubt, I think, whether any other athletic pastime requires as much "wind" and ability to " take it" as basketball.

Kingston High School has always sent into the field teams every bit as good as those of other schools, and this year was no exception. A large number of candidates responded to the announcement of the beginning of practice sessions. Every one of these prospects were given ample time to prove their worth until finally the squad was selected.

It consisted of the following men: Captain Bill Heffron and "Dutch" Kartuchak as forwards; Joe Betz, William Bynon, and James Haggerty as guards; and "Big Bill" Crossin, one of the high scorers of the league, as center. John Williams, Harold Pittman, and Bob Rossman played commendably as substitutes.

All in all, the team enjoyed a very successful season, not by winning the league pennant, but by playing the type of game the fans are interested in seeing, that is, games played in a manner of excellent sportsmanship, with the score of competing teams jumping from the favor of the home team to that of the rival, up until the last few seconds of play.

The varsity "hoop sinkers" won seven and lost seven of their league games. It may be well to observe here that out of the seven games won, a large majority of the victories were over teams standing near the top of the league.

The Reserve division of the squad was the only team to beat the Reserves of G. A. R. High School and closed their season having won seven games and losing but four, three of which were won by the rival teams with a one point majority.

By the way in which this team met and defeated most of the teams which will next year constitute Kingston's opposition, the future looks bright for them.

Cinders In Their Eyes

Up And Over

Keep 'Em High

Going For The Feed Bags

THE track team of '36 was one of the most balanced teams in the history of Kingston High. Displaying the same power and speed, which last year made them P. I. A. A. champions, the team was considered to be "tops" in this field of high school sport.

The nucleus of the team consisted of the many lettermen left from last year, among whom are: Loughney, Valenstein, Carigg, Burdulis, Supulski, Wilkens, Wilson and Kenney.

Three dual meets were arranged this year. The meet at Forty Fort, a night meet, was the first of its kind held in Wyoming Valley, and proved a huge success.

The Scranton relays held at West Pittston were evident proof of the strength of the team. Winning four out of five relays, Kingston again demonstrated its power. The two mile relays have been won three times, giving us permanent possession of the two cups for these events.

Distinction They Have Won

THE rapid increase in the membership of the Lettermen's Club is self-evident in that it has risen to a total of eighty. The addition of swimming, tennis, and wrestling to the sports program has provided this increase. Their addition has also enlarged the opportunity of securing a letter in some field or other and thus fulfill the only necessary requirement to gain admission to the club.

The organized program usually has a few activities throughout the year but due to interference of other conflicting social affairs these were either cancelled or postponed to a later date when they were entirely forgotten in the melee caused by the flood. The only duly authorized officer is the captain of the varsity football squad. It is the pleasure of the Lettermen's Association to have Joseph Soroka as its president this year.

The activities of the Lettermen's Club do not cease upon graduation from high school but, in a way, repeat themselves. Each person who so desires may become a member of the Alumni Lettermen's Association whose purpose is to provide a lasting interest in athletics for its members. We shall undoubtedly hear more from our present high school lettermen in years to come when they become active members of this Alumni Association. Each year, previous to commencement, a scholarship award is made by them to the boy whom they choose as finest all-around athlete.

The sponsors of the Lettermen's Club is the Director of Athletics, Mr. J. S. McCracken. It is his duty to advise the club in any of its business or social activities and to direct its activities in the best possible manner.

Needed In The Flood

SWIMMERS ready! On your marks!! Go!!! and off goes Kingston High School to another successful season in the line of aquatic sports. This year Kingston had a larger and more enthusiastic group of tankers than ever before in the history of the swimming team. More than sixty boys reported for practice the first day, but after eliminations were held the team narrowed down to the following mermen who earned permanent berths on the squad: John Rogers, Robert Davenport, George Welsh, Justin Mitchell, William Cushner, Charles Stitzer, Vincent Grasso, Robert Humpleby, K. DeWald, Alex Weir, William Robbins, and Walter Horan.

A favorable season was completed as the swimmers successfully met the strongest teams of Northeastern Pennsylvania, including Meyers, Coughlin,

Scranton Tech and Scranton Central High Schools, Wyoming Seminary and Bucknell Junior College. The outstanding meets were the Wyoming Valley Invitational Championship meet in which the team gained 29 points, only 3 points behind the winning team, and that in which they overwhelmed Bucknell Junior College.

Last year's veterans, Davenport, Rogers, and Stitzer, earned a name for themselves in the Northeastern Pennsylvania District Championship Meet. Davenport, present district champion, won first place in both the 50 and 100 yard free-style races by breaking the old records in each event. Rogers was barely nosed out of first place in fancy diving by last year's defending champion. Stitzer won a third place in the arduous 220 yard free-style.

Other members of the team whose work was outstanding were: Welsh, 100 yard and relay man; Mitchell, 50 yard and relay man; Grasso, Cushner, and Robbins, breast stroke men, and Humpleby and DeWald, back stroke men.

This year's competent management has been due to the work of Howard Wiener.

Cheer For Victory

To the 1936 Cheerleaders the school is deeply indebted, for the enthusiasm, spirit and pep aroused by them at the many athletic contests. The fine sportsmanship displayed at all times by pupils and spectators attending football and basketball games casts a fine reflection on the leadership of these cheerleaders.

The cheerleading squad was very fortunate in having such a plucky "mite" as Margaret Mullen for captain. The tremendous ovations rendered at all games were largely due to her fine leadership and may the next year's squad be as fortunate in having such a capable leader as she.

The members of this year's cheerleading team were: Margaret Mullen, captain; Lois Rogers, Rhoda Morgan, Edward Maguire, Ralph Weller, Joseph Tomberg, Betty Williams, William Jenkins, Edward Gooday. The remaining four will provide a fine basis for the coming years' teams.

Shoulders Pinned Down

READY! Wrestle! And the squad is started on a glorious season. The Kingston High School Wrestling Team has worked itself up into one of the outstanding and favorite sport teams in the school.

Although there was little veteran material, the squad developed into one of the strongest in the State. The schedule, one of keen rivalry, consisted of nine meets with high schools from all parts of Pennsylvania. The team emerged victorious with eight triumphs. The outstanding meet of the year was with Shamokin High School, who had been State champions for the past four years. Our squad of mat-pounders defeated the champions in a very exciting meet, the final match being won by Capt. George Hooper of Kingston, when he overcame their strongest man, a tri-State champ, who had not been defeated in four years.

Whistle! Time! And a brilliant and eventful season is ended, making Kingston the winner of many successful meets.

First Row: Saul Tomberg, Edmund Horlacher, Harold Pittman.
Second Row: Joseph Robinson, Mr. Bennett, Edward McGroarty.

Where "Love" Means Work

TRYING to better their 1935 record, the members of the Kingston High Tennis Team looked forward to this season as an opportunity to avenge a series of close defeats, administered last year by Wyoming Seminary, Kingston Tennis Club and Clark Summit.

The team had three veterans returning from last year to form the nucleus of this year's team, namely Pittman, Horlacher and McGroarty. With the addition of Tomberg and Robinson this year's team should better the mark set by their predecessors.

Each year the tennis team sponsors an intramural tennis tournament for both boys and girls. This year's tournament will be the third annual match. The champions of our high school in former years were: Betty Thomas and Robert Beach, and Sarah Turner and Harold Pittman. Much interest has been shown in this event and the competition has been exceptionally keen, especially in the closing matches.

The team's schedule this year consists of matches with Wyoming Seminary, Clark Summit, Kingston Tennis Club, Faculty Tennis Team and teams from Forty Fort, Plymouth and Meyers High Schools.

First Row: R. Smith, W. Allen, R. Davenport.

That Head Pin's The One

THIS year a group of seniors started a bowling club which now has a membership of thirty-five. From this group, teams were selected from those having the highest average, to represent the school in meets. Meets were held with G. A. R., Plains, DeMolay, and Y. M. C. A. pin boys at the Y. M. C. A.

The club attended a lecture on the correct way to bowl by Noah Belding, Bowling Supervisor of the Central Y. M. C. A. at Wilkes-Barre.

As bowling is a new sport in the high school, it is not expected that much attention will be given to it at first, but it is surprising how many are interested in bowling. It is a game which is available at all times of the year and within the strength and means of almost everybody, young or old, man, woman, or child. Some of the members had never bowled before in their life. Now they are ardent bowlers and expert ones, too.

The club ended a successful year under the able guidance of John Gittins.

Who Said Weaker Sex?

THE Aniketos Club is the only athletic organization for girls in the high school, and therefore it is deemed a great honor to be voted into this society.

The only ways that girls are eligible are by having the highest average in the freshman and sophomore gym classes, by being on the reserve or varsity basketball squad, or by playing on the winning home room team in the annual basketball tournament.

The club staged an annual football tea dance, which proved to be quite an affair. This last year the girls invited Coughlin students to attend our tea dance. Many accepted and enjoyed dancing to Norman Horlacher's music, and the floor show by pupils of Miss Hilda Mann Hertz. The profits the club derived from this did much toward keeping a good financial standard. Selling candy at basketball games also helped considerably.

One of the aims of this club is to further athletics among the girls and to heighten their interest in sports. Several of the club members have had charge of home room teams in the Basketball Tournament. This gives them practical experience in coaching and refereeing.

Last year the club presented a trophy to the winning home room basketball team. This trophy is to be presented every year to the victorious team.

Miss Kathryn Ingham, basketball coach, athletic instructress and sponsor of the Aniketos, does a great deal for the club and is well liked by all the girls.

They're Always On Guard

THE Girls' Basketball Team has closed another successful season, winning eight games out of thirteen. Miss Ingham, although handicapped by the loss of most of her players from last year, did excellent work in building up the newcomers. In the latter part of November when Miss Ingham announced that all girls interested in basketball could "sign up" she had a response of about one hundred and fifty girls. From this large number of candidates from the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes, she chose eleven for the varsity team and twelve for the reserve team, and with these girls Miss Ingham worked most faithfully to develop the best team possible.

Although they lost five games during the season, the team does not feel bad for there were several games lost by very close scores. In the Luzerne and Wyoming Seminary games, for instance, the scores never varied more than four points in favor of one team or the other, and it was games like these that were exciting for both the players and spectators. One of the most outstanding games was the victory over G. A. R. on our home floor—that game gave us all a thrill.

The attractive appearance of the team in new suits of heavy black satin trimmed in white satin, seemed to add interest to the games. Each girl on the varsity squad earned her "K" by playing in more than ten quarters of varsity games during the season, and in addition the six seniors who are graduating were presented with small gold medals.

We must not overlook the reserve team for they deserve more credit than is given to them. Their record of losing one game during the entire season shows that Kingston High will have a good girls' basketball team representing it next year.

Class Poem

With heavy heart and solemn tread,
We sadly say adieu
To years of joy in learning's path
And friendships warm and true.
A host of half-forgotten thoughts
Like treasures rich and rare,
Crowd memory's gray, recessive space
And find remembrances there;
Our paths may turn to diverse ways,
Our youthful days are done,
But this is not the ending—
For life has just begun.

We're Not Leaving Intestate

We, the Class of 1936, being about to rouse ourselves from a four year sleep, and wishing to depart with clear consciences and with nothing which does not rightfully belong to us, being in our usual state of lethargy, apathy, and indolence, and with the aid of incompetent illegal advisors, do hereby make our last will and testament.

Item I. We bequeath to the faculty who have been the sowers of the seeds of the wisdom of the ages, a sweet and unbroken succession of restful nights and peaceful dreams, or expressing it in a cognate way, may they henceforth sleep the sleep of the sleepy instead of lying awake nights to worry over the uncertainty of whether this one is studying her English or that one will know his Geometry in the morning.

Item II. To Mrs. Allen, a gold-plated alarm clock, to be set ten minutes ahead.

Item III. To Miss Sweet, another peaceful public speaking class of perfect angels.

Item IV. To Mr. Mangan, any student of French with Justin Mitchell's art of repartee.

Item V. To whatsoever member of the faculty as may desire him, another student of "Red" Williams long standing.

Item. VI. We do bequeath to our innocent, unsophisticated and slumbering Juniors one more year of peaceful, und sturbed repose in the auditorium, there to read Henry Esmond.

Item VII. To whoever may find it, and have the patience and fortitude to use it, William Watkins' dictionary.

Item VIII. To "Bob" Leary, Harold Pittman's power to "slay 'em."

Item IX. To Jane Hooper, Rose McGuire's "certain something."

Item X. To Virginia Rosser, Margaret Mullen's popularity.

Item XI. To next year's Kingstonian staff, one gross of headache powders.

Item XII. To Bob Goff, William Cushner's air of injured innocence.

Item XIII. To "Al" Burdulis, "Herb" Valenstein's winged sandals.

Item XIV. To "Bob" Wagner, "Dave" Jones rythm.

Item XV. To any member of the "Treble Clef Club," Jimmy Irland's soprano voice.

Item XVI. To Daniel Costine, "Bob" Vernon's knowledge of agriculture and Phesaeonices.

Item XVII. To "Bob" Yaple, Alex Weir's medal for safe driving.

Item XVIII. To Ben Berley, John Wakovski's many red marks.

Item XIX. To the football team next year, the ability of "Bill" Morgan and "Hendow" Williams. We couldn't induce "Ben" Czarnecki to surrender his.

Item XX. To all future class presidents, George Hooper's genial smile.

Item XXI. To Paul McNeil, the secret of "Vic" Zebrowski's method of wrestling.

Item XXII. To a corps of Junior girls the delightful experiences of hall aides.

Item XXIII. To the Sophomores, the irregular use of the drinking fountains.

Item XXIV. To the Freshman class that is to be—any overlooked wads of gum we may have left adhering to the undersides of desks, bannisters, library tables, or assembly seats or any other likely or unlikely places, for sometimes we have had to rid ourselves of these aids to deep thinking and a youthful chin-line, in too much of a hurry to be able to pick and choose the most desirable means of disposal.

Item XXV. The subjoined list will be recognized as entailed estates, to which we declare the Class of 1937 the real and rightful successors:

First—Our seats in class room and chapel.

Second—Our Senior dignity.

Third—Stubs of pencils, erasers or scraps of paper that we may inadvertently leave behind us in the excitement and haste of gathering up cherished treasures for the last time.

Last comes the one thing hard for us to part with.

To our successors we must leave our places in the hearts and thought of our Superintendent, Principals and teachers. They will love them, unworthy as we feel they are, even as they loved us; they will show them all the same tender kindness and attention that they have bestowed upon us; they will show the same interest in their attempts and successes; the same sorrow which we feel.

Besides these enforced gifts, we leave not of necessity, but of our own free will, our blessing, tender memories of our association together, and a pledge of friendship from henceforth forever.

We do hereby constitute and appoint our Principal sole executor of this our last will and testament.

In witness whereof, we, the Class of 1936, the testators, hence to this our will, written on sheets of parchment, set our hands and seal this fifth day of June, Anno Domini, one thousand, nine hundred and thirty-six.

A Yearbook You'll Be Proud To Own

When it comes to printing, we're particular about page design; we fuss with type selections; we're dotty on the subject of relative paper, type and ink in yearbooks. Maybe that's why we get along so well with particular editors and advisers. They want just what we want---the finest yearbooks their budgets and our facilities can provide. Maybe that's why so many schools turned to us this year for printing and binding their yearbooks. We hope so. We hope you, too, will be turning to us in the near future.
